

Comptroller's Examiners Report on Co. Finances

Subdivision 15 of section 23 of the County Law prescribes the following:

"The board of supervisors of any county of the state . . . may by a majority vote of all supervisors by resolution duly adopted, determine to pay . . . any officer of such county while actually engaged in any investigation or on other official business for the county, not to exceed eight cents per mile for the miles actually and necessarily traveled, whether by use of his own automobile or otherwise."

Search of the minutes of proceedings of the board of supervisors, going back to the year 1926 discloses that no resolution was voted as required by the statute quoted.

In the absence of such authorization by the board of supervisors, the superintendent is entitled to such expenses as were actually and necessarily incurred by him while engaged in official business for the county.

Statistics kept by public utility and wholesale merchandise corporations which operate a number of automobiles, show the average cost of automobile miles varies from six to twelve cents per mile according to the type of car.

While the charge of eight cents may or may not be excessive, unless such rate is authorized by the board of supervisors the superintendent must determine the actual expense per mile for using his automobile and make claim for such expense.

There are items and charges in the above claim for attendance at unofficial conventions or conferences in the sum of $92.38.

Reference to the minutes of proceedings of the board of supervisors shows no resolution granting authority to the superintendent to attend such conventions or conferences at the expense of the county.

Section 77B of the General Municipal Law provides as follows:

"The governing board of any municipal corporation may by majority vote of its members, authorize any one or more of its officers . . . to attend an official or unofficial convention of municipal officers if believed to be a benefit to the municipality. Such authorization may be by resolution adopted prior to such attendance. All sums actually and necessarily expended by any person so authorized, for railroad fare and hotel expenses shall be a charge against the municipality."

Obviously the charges made for attending the official or unofficial convention are not a county charge but a personal expense of the superintendent.

Other unauthorized charges included in the claim are "meals for assistant," "meals for driver," and "dinner for survey crew," the total of the same being $67.80.

The expense for meals of assistants, drivers, and survey crews cannot be reasonably included in the category of superintendent's expenses, any more than the expenses of meals for road foreman or other employees. The expenses for "meals at Kingston for self," are a personal expense of the superintendent and not a county expense. The office of the county superintendent and his home are at Kingston. The expenses of the superintendent do not include maintenance charges when at Kingston.

The superintendent rendered a claim in the sum of $148.12, which was duly audited, and allowed by the board of supervisors and paid by the county treasurer.

The following is a transcript of the service rendered:

"For cost of paper, current and labor in blue prints furnished and used in office of County Superintendent as per attached 48 slips" $174.26

"Less 15 per cent as usual commercial profit" 26.14

$148.12

This claim is for work performed by the superintendent and others at his home, where he maintains a map blue print developing apparatus.

It is understood that the charge made is less than could be obtained from others doing such work.

Even so, the superintendent has no authority to be interested in a contract with the county other than for those services which he renders in the discharge of his official duties.

Section 186B of the Penal Law reads as follows:

"A public officer . . . who is to . . . make any contract in his official capacity . . . who voluntarily becomes interested individually in such . . . contract, directly or indirectly, except in cases where such . . . contract or payment under the same is subject to audit or approval by the commissioner of education, is guilty of a misdemeanor."

Five Year Plan Emerging from Imperial Meet

Empire Trade Conference at Ottawa Plans Five Year Project—Expect Differences Settled by Thursday Evening.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 16 (P)—The empire trade conference was moving today toward a British five-year plan.

Trade agreements negotiated here, it was proposed, will have a duration of five years and will then be terminable on six months notice.

Only the important agreement between Great Britain and Canada remained uncompleted today, but there was no move to change the date of the final plenary session ending the conference, which is set for Thursday, and consequently, it is indicated the British and Canadians intend to reach a final agreement by tomorrow night.

The question of levying tariff taxes against foreign food products in Great Britain, a move which is generally conceded would be unpopular with the British people, was the chief difficulty the conferees were facing.

The demand of Canada for restrictions against what she has called "dumping" of Russian products in Great Britain is another.

Lumber Problem.

In spite of the publication of the alleged details of a British agreement giving Canada a 10 per cent preference on lumber, which probably would react against Russia's huge lumber shipments to Britain, responsible sources said flatly today no bargain of any kind had been made on lumber.

In a general way, it was indicated that Canada's offer now includes continuation and extension of existing British preferences; reduction or discontinuation of special dumping duties to accelerate the flow of British goods into Canada; and a substantial modification of policy in respect to artificial valuation of British goods for duty purposes.

Additional Benefits.

Additional benefits were unofficially listed as follows:

1. Important increases in British preference on iron and steel products which would switch $30,000,000 worth of Canada's orders annually from foreign to British producers;

2. Revision in textile tariff schedules which would divert Canadian business from American to British channels, and give Lancashire and Yorkshire manufacturers an even break with Canadian manufacturers in the domestic market;

3. British industries to have the right to appear before the Canadian Tariff Commission to secure fair competition in the Canadian market;

4. Cost of production in both countries to be equalized by scientific tariff adjustments;

5. Establishment of an annual market in Canada for a minimum of 1,000,000 tons of Scotch and Welsh anthracite;

6. "Free" British entry into the Canadian market of thousands of articles not produced in Canada.

The sub-committee on radio and motion picture films failed to develop anything deemed by American observers threatening to United States interests. In a broad way it was suggested the conference take special note of the need to develop both industries within the commonwealth, from a cultural as well as an economic standpoint.

AMERICANS REPORTED SLAIN BY CHINESE SOLDIERS.

Peking, China, Aug. 16 (P)—Lieutenant Robert H. Soule, assistant military attaché at the United States legation, reported from Sianfu today that Henry Ekval, an American employed by the China United States Motor Company of Hankow, had been slain by Chinese soldiers near Sianfu last month.

The legation forwarded its third protest to Nanking and to the Shensi provincial authorities urging prompt steps to apprehend the culprits.

Ekval disappeared on a motor trip from Kansu province in western China to Sianfu, the adjoining province on the east, and was last reported on July 23, 20 miles from his destination. He was accompanied by the Rev. G. D. Torrance, of the Swedish-Scandinavian Alliance Mission, with headquarters in Chicago. An unidentified Japanese also was with them.

Lieutenant Soule said his investigation indicated that they had been robbed and murdered by Chinese soldiers who threw the bodies into an abandoned well. No trace of the bodies or the automobile has been found, but the investigation is continuing.

Two Airmen Held.

Asuncion, Paraguay, Aug. 16 (P)—The two Bolivian airmen captured by Paraguayan troops when their plane fell near Fort Aquino in the Gran Chaco region several days ago have arrived here under guard and are being held incommunicado by the navy department.

"Unknown Person" in Mayor Walker Case Revealed as a Woman

Mysterious "Unknown Person" Revealed As Woman—Was Recipient of Money—Her Identity Closely Guarded by Seabury.

Executive Chamber, Albany, N. Y., Aug. 16 (P)—Governor Roosevelt's investigation of Mayor Walker today probed close to the identity of the "unknown person", who figures in the inquiry, when the mayor revealed that the mysterious recipient of money was a woman.

When Governor Roosevelt observed that the evidence showed that a letter of credit for $10,000 was arranged for the same "unknown person" to whom Russell T. Sherwood, missing accountant, paid $7,500, Walker said:

"I know nothing about the letter of credit. I do know that Sherwood handled income matters for the 'unknown person' and an examination of her accounts would show she had several bank accounts in the city."

The identity of the "unknown person" has been scrupulously guarded by Samuel Seabury, investigator for the Hoffstadter legislative committee.

Hearing Adjourned at Noon.

Walker's remark was the first reference to the sex of the mysterious figure that has repeatedly bobbed up in the investigation and the executive hearing here.

The morning session adjourned at noon. The hearing was to resume at 1 p. m., eastern standard time.

John J. Curtin, counsel to the mayor, fought to obtain the secret evidence compiled by the Tammany investigators, but his demand went unanswered as the governor moved quickly to a scrutiny of letters of credit that Sherwood obtained.

Curtin had particularly desired to look over the Seabury accountants' work sheets to find out how the Hoffstadter investigator reached his conclusion that Sherwood paid out large sums of money for the mayor. Roosevelt refused to ask for the work sheets.

Study Tangled Relations.

Throughout the morning session, Mr. Roosevelt sought to untangle the evidence involving Walker's relations with Sherwood, whom Seabury was never able to question. Walker testified and Curtin arguing, contended that Sherwood, an employee of Walker's former law firm, as a "courtesy" made out checks for Walker's relatives. Each time, however, the mayor reimbursed him with cash, Mr. Walker said.

"Have you any records of the amounts in cash you gave Sherwood?" Roosevelt asked Walker.

"No," replied the mayor, "I haven't even kept my own check book."

The mayor likely will fight the rest of his battle for exoneration without his wife. Mrs. Walker, who attended the first day of the hearing, became ill on last Thursday night. She collapsed while attending Mass yesterday. Mr. Walker said today that she would return to New York today accompanied by the family physician, Dr. William Schroeder, chairman of the city sanitation commission.

CHECK UP INQUIRY INTO ROOSEVELT'S ADMINISTRATION

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 16 (P)—The Republican legislative committee investigating the Democratic administration of Governor Roosevelt was scheduled to meet today to check up the results of three months of inquiry.

The meeting was called by Senator Charles J. Hewitt, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and chief of the investigating body.

A corps of efficiency experts employed by the committee has studied the working methods of four of the eighteen state departments operating under the administration of Mr. Roosevelt—Civil service, correction, taxation and agriculture—and began an analysis of still more divisions.

Of the $25,000 appropriated by the last legislature for the investigation, approximately $8,000 has been spent to date, a check of the fund reveals.

FASCIST PLAN PRODUCES 750,000 EMBRYO TROOPS

Rome (P)—Compulsory preliminary training completed its first year satisfactorily, General Teruzzi, commander of the blackshirt militia, reported to Mussolini.

Some 905,474 young men were under instruction and 756,478 were declared fit to continue.

Compulsory preliminary training means that youths of 18 must drill every Sunday morning and on other days ordained by the authorities. Their regular service lasts 18 months, beginning at the age of 21.

Enter 44th Hour in the Air.

New York, Aug. 16 (P)—Mrs. Frances Marsalis and Mrs. Louise Thaden breakfasted, refueled and entered their 44th hour continuously in the air with their "Flying Boomer" at 2 a. m., eastern standard time, today. The two fliers are attempting to set a new endurance mark for women.

Branded "Pure Inventions."

London, Aug. 16 (P)—From the highest sources came a denial today of reports published in the United States regarding new naval conversions between representatives of the British and American governments. The reports were characterized as "pure invention."

Sales Tax Looms for Debate Before Next Meeting of Congress

Some Legislators Believe Sales Tax May Be Substituted for Many Special Excise Taxes Now in the Law.

Washington, Aug. 16 (P)—The sales tax, cause of many a bitter congressional debate, is being warmed up for another start through the legislative mill.

Before Congress meets the fire may go out, but there still are legislators who think a general sales tax of, say 1½ per cent, should be substituted for the many special excise levies now in the law.

Senator Smoot, chairman of the Senate committee, predicts that the December session will see a new study of the tax situation. In the House, where all tax legislation must originate, Democrats already have a special committee surveying the problem.

Smoot and these Democrats are bearing in mind President Hoover's acceptance statement that "recent increases in revenues, while temporary, should be again examined, and if they tend to sap the vitality of industry, and thus retard employment, they must be revised."

There are many in and out of Congress who believe some of the excise rates do "sap the vitality of industry" just as there are many who think a general sales levy would be more harmful.

Henry I. Harriman, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, is in the former group. Chamber members who feel as he does doubtless will talk over things with their congressman between now and the first Monday in December.

What President Hoover says about taxes in his annual message will have considerable bearing as will the report of the special House committee. All are hopeful that the increased rates and improving conditions will bring enough money to balance the budget. Only plain figures compiled by the Treasury will settle that question.

PROHIBITIONISTS WANT BORAH FOR PRESIDENT

Boise, Idaho, Aug. 16 (P)—Two National Prohibition leaders again have asked Senator William E. Borah to seek the presidency as head of a prohibition ticket, and the Idaho statesman was expected to make his decision today.

Dr. Clarence True Wilson, chairman of the Board of Temperance and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and Leigh Covin, National Chairman of the Prohibition Party which recently tendered the nomination to Borah, conferred with the Senator last night and renewed their plea.

Should Senator Borah accept the proposal, Dr. Wilson said, he would carry 19 southern states in the election and enough central, western and eastern states to be elected.

Extend German Forecasts.

Frankfurt-on-Main (P)—Weather forecasts for 10 days in advance now are being made by the state observatory here. The service covers northern, middle and western Germany.

Communists Plan to Strike Against Action of German Government

Berlin, Aug. 16 (P)—Leaders of Germany's 3,500,000 Communists laid plans today for a nationwide strike war against the Von Papen government to force it into measures for the relief of unemployment.

"We must place the masses of the people in the fight against the government and the National Socialist hunger offensive," Ernst Thaelmann, Communist leader, declared in an appeal sent out to his followers. "It must be on the widest possible basis."

"Economic strikes, agitation by the unemployed, rent strikes and lastly a general strike in all cities—that's the line of fight. The party should facilitate the assembly of these weapons in a battle against every capitalist escape from the crisis. This is necessary for the protection of the proletarian revolution."

In the meantime, the government was also goaded from the right by denunciations of its policies by the Hitlerites. Explaining Hitler's refusal to participate in a cabinet in a secondary position as suggested by the President von Hindenburg and the government leaders, the Nazis credited him with remaining true to the party and the people.

"The policies of the Von Papen government never can be the policies of the National Socialist party," the Nazi statement said. "A government in which we do not lead can never result in anything but failure to bring about a turn for the better in the affairs which concern Germany's future."

"We want no pussy-footing or half-way measures. We want a policy of wisdom and deeds, which is the only thing that can save the German people."

The government was experiencing considerable difficulty in securing financial backing for its unemployment plans and this was taken as an indication that a stormy road lay ahead of it.

TROUBLE SEEN IN BONUS ARMY QUIBBLE.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 16 (P)—Pennsylvania encampments of the bonus expeditionary force threaten trouble for Commander Walter W. Waters.

At Uniontown, Captain Hoke Smith, in charge of Camp Sherry, housing 200 veterans, said they will not join Waters's "Khaki Shirts."

In Johnstown, Mayor Eddie McCloskey for nearly a week has been frantically urging Waters to come there to make clear his stand on various issues "for your own good."

McCloskey says Waters has failed to communicate with the encampment since the main body moved out.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Aug. 16 (P)—Treasury receipts for August 13 were $2,356,538.21; expenditures $11,269,307.55; balance $441,274.45. Customs duties for 13 days of August were $10,757,592.74.

Second Son Born To Lindberghs At Home Of Morrows

Charles A. Lindberghs Parents of Another Son, Born at 6:30 This Morning—Child and Mother Reported in Good Health.

Englewood, N. J., Aug. 16 (P)—Another son was born to the Charles A. Lindberghs today, bringing happiness back to a home long darkened by deepest tragedy.

Five months and 16 days after 20 months old Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., was stolen from his crib to meet his death while all the world sought him, the second baby was born at 6:30 a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Only the fact that the second son had been born was immediately available, but it was generally understood that the baby and its mother were both in good health.

The child was understood to have been born in the Dwight W. Morrow home where the first baby was born and Mrs. Morrow, Mrs. Lindbergh's mother, was present, having recently returned from Europe.

No statement was forthcoming on this point, but the probability was considered that the new baby's nurse would be Betty Gow, who was the first baby's nurse and who first discovered the kidnapping.

Miss Gow was questioned at length after the kidnapping as were all the Lindbergh servants and her sailor suit, Henry Johnson, was detained for a long time and finally deported. The Lindberghs always expressed complete faith in her. She is at present on a visit to her former home in Scotland.

TERROR GRIPS COUNTRYSIDE FOLLOWING PRISON BREAK

Granite, Okla., Aug. 16—Southwest Oklahoma residents were as vigilant today in their lookout for 19 escaped convicts from the state reformatory here as were possees searching for them.

Reports of the depredations of the fugitives, described by one guard as including some of the "toughest" at the prison, only added to the fear of the dwellers in this plains and mountain country near the Texas border. Guards expected most of the convicts to flee into the Wichita Mountains, from whose granite peaks the prison town was named.

A youth was stabbed and another was shot in the shoulder and a 17-year old girl was choked by two fugitives who attempted to assault her. Several other persons were kidnapped and their cars seized by the fleeing convicts who used a smuggled pistol to overpower a sergeant and two guards Sunday night.

SAYS MEANEST MAN IN WORLD IS LOOSE AGAIN

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 16 (P)—W. F. Sherman says that the meanest man in the world is loose again.

Sherman bought a chocolate covered ice cream lollipop from an itinerant vendor in Washington Park for his six-year-old daughter, Ruth. "I can't bite it," Ruth said.

"Wait until it melts," counseled her dad.

But the lollipop remained hard and firm, and close inspection disclosed that it was a block of wood painted brown.

Sherman is looking for the salesman.

SAN PAULO BELIEVES OTHER STATES WILL JOIN

Montevideo, Uruguay, Aug. 16 (P)—Press dispatches from Rivera, on the Brazilian border, said today the Brazilian state of Rio Grande do Sul soon will join the state of San Paulo, in rebellion against the federal government of President Getulio Vargas.

Brazilian banks have transferred large sums to Uruguayan banks as a result of the new developments, the dispatches said, and many Brazilian families also have crossed into Uruguay.

"VINCE" HART'S CONDITION REPORTED SERIOUS TODAY

Vincent J. Hart of Foxhall avenue, the well known local boxer and baseball player, who was so badly injured Saturday when struck and run over by a steam shovel on the Sawkill—Tena county road that his left leg was amputated below the knee at the Benedictine Hospital, is in a serious condition at the hospital.

Hart lost considerable blood and sustained a severe shock in addition to his other injuries. The right leg was also badly injured in the accident.

Officials of the Kingston Trust Co., when questioned today regarding the statement made by examiners from the state comptroller's office that the undertaking filed by them with County Treasurer Herbert E. Thomas in 1929 was "not executed by the depositor," emphatically denied the statement, and referred the reporter to the official records on file with the county clerk.

An examination of the document, on file in the county clerk's office, appears to bear out their contention, as it is signed "Kingston Trust Co., by Philip Elting, president," and Mr. Elting's execution of the instrument for the Trust Co., acting as its president and with the authority of the board of directors, is attested under oath and verified by John W. Eckert, notary public.

The undertaking does not bear the corporate seal of the Trust Co., another point stressed by the examiners, but attorneys questioned in regard to that omission state that such omission was undoubtedly an oversight and that the absence of the seal does not lessen the validity of the undertaking nor in any way absolve the sureties from their responsibility. The officials of the bank say that they would have been pleased at any time to attach the Trust Co. seal to the document had the examiners called their attention to the matter.

County Treasurer Arthur E. Rice states that a similar bond filed with him in January last, by the Trust Co., and approved by him, is one criticized. With few exceptions the sureties are the same on both bonds and the chief difference lies in the amount of county funds to be deposited.

The undertaking given in 1929 and which has been criticized, designates the Kingston Trust Co. as a depository for county funds in an amount not to exceed $200,000, and gives the following as sureties for that amount:

Philip Elting.
David Terry.
Brynn Hasbrouck.
Elva H. Bogart.
W. C. Ingalls.
C. S. Treadwell.
John W. Eckert.
Joel Brink.
W. H. Van Etten.
Alva S. Staples.
Arthur V. Hoornbeek.
Seligman Oppenheimer.
Edward F. McGill.
Jacob Rice.
S. B. Schwartzwelder.

The signatures of the sureties named are verified under date of January 16, 1929. They also under oath declared that they were worth a total of more than twice the amount of the sum for which they were held responsible.

The undertaking was approved by Frederick Davis, chairman of the board of supervisors and was filed with County Treasurer Thomas and approved by him on March 13, 1929. On May 10 of that year it was filed with Walter G. Geroldsek, county clerk.

PRESIDENT HOOVER CONTINUES VACATION

Washington, Aug. 16 (P)—Fisherman Herbert Hoover again today kept President Herbert Hoover vacationing.

On Chesapeake Bay the President-Asterman spent the night aboard the Commerce Department boat Sequoia. Whether he ate for breakfast some of the "nice mess" of trout and bluefish the White House said he caught the newspapermen couldn't find out—they were respecting his wishes not to bother him.

Nobody had said definitely how long the President would continue his cruise. But White House automobiles were kept in readiness for word through the Sequoia's radio to meet the boat whenever it headed for a dock.

The President intended to finish his vacation with a week-end at his Rapidan, Virginia, mountain camp.

FIRE SWEEPS GARAGE AND STABLE AT VICTORIA PALACE

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 16 (P)—Fire of undetermined origin swept the upper part of a garage and stable building at Victoria Palace, the estate of Dr. Harry Y. Grant, overlooking Queen Victoria Park and the falls at 11:45 p. m. yesterday.

Firemen and employees of the estate saved two automobiles and two cows from the garage and stable. A number of valuable oriental rugs stored in the building were destroyed.

Firemen prevented the flames from reaching the residence where distinguished guests of the city, including the Prince of Wales and other members of the British Royal family, have been entertained during their visits to Canada and the United States.

While hauling a mammoth load of hay recently, upon which were heaped 180 uppers for Farmer John Bell,
George Burgher, driver of the truck, got stuck hard and fast in the middle of the road. So wide was the load that traffic both ways was reported blocked until the obstruction could finally be removed after great exertion on the part of Mr. Bell.Recently located roadside signs advising the public that automobile repairing and servicing in its various branches may be obtained at the High Point Garage on the mountain road, under the very experienced supervision of Proprietor Henry J.
Bell. Mr. Bell has given most satis-that the rush of the summer season is beginning to tell on him. Up at five o'clock every morning and standing on the go until ten at night is a stinted hospitality shown by Mr.

Shokan Dial Phones
In Operation TodayShokan telephone customers will dial all their calls after 12 o'clock, noon, today. A. R. Nelson, manager of the New York Telephone Company, said this morning. At that time the new dial central office equipment installed on the second floor of the building next door to the Post Office will be cut into service and the local manual switchboard will be removed.
Everything is in readiness for the cutover and there will be practically no interruption in service, Mr.
Nelson said. Telephone installers have visited every customer and installed and tested the new instrument with the dial at the base. Customers have received instruction pamphlets on "How to Use the Dial Telephone" and have been notified by letter when to start dialing their calls.
The new green covered telephone directories which were delivered last month contain all the new Shokan telephone numbers made necessary by the change to dial service. All calls made to the new numbers since the books were delivered have been automatically transferred by the operator to the old number. After the cutover all the new numbers will become effective and this practice will no longer be necessary.
"With the introduction of dial service Shokan will have a fast, reliable type of telephone service throughout the twenty-four hours of the day," Mr. Nelson said in commenting on the cutover. "The inroduction in towns the size of Shokan is made possible by recent developments in telephone engineering and gives to these places the same type of service enjoyed by larger cities. It is being installed in communities served by the New York Telephone Company where ever local conditions warrant."

FEMINE MEASUREMENTS

Dr. Herman Bundezen, president of the Chicago board of health, believes that the athletic habits of the modern girl may actually be changing the physical proportions of women. Measurements of numerous outdoor girls have been taken in Chicago this summer which bear out that idea. Many of the young women are as wide about the shoulders as about the hips. Perhaps it would be better to say they are as narrow through the hips as across the shoulders.

Swimming has developed shoulders and muscles which propel the girl of today through the water easily. Greater freedom of the body, sunshine, proper diet, lack of constricting clothing have helped to produce straight bones and firm muscles. She is so active in all her living that she has no superfluous fat. She breathes more deeply and carries herself better than her predecessors of wasp-waist days.

The doctor does not say whether the new proportions are more beautiful than the old, or whether Venus de Milo's proportions—wider hips than shoulders—have become artistically outmoded. If the girls are healthier and stronger than heretofore, that should be counted a gain. Beauty may then be expected to take care of itself.

APING THE KAISER

Mussolini, who spent several years rattling the saber, then for a year or two waved an olive branch, is now strutting again and making speeches like former Kaiser Wilhelm. He tells his people that peace is enervating, that it takes warfare, with its martial virtues, to make nations great—all the old hokum that civilized people have hoped they were done with since 1918.

Just what Mussolini means by it is hard to say. His speeches are often calculated for the furtherance of plans unknown to anyone but himself. He uses oratory as general use troops. His real wars so far have been diplomatic. When he gets what he wants, he may start preaching peace again.

Thus it is well not to take any utterance from Mussolini too seriously. He is a big man, a strong man, an able man, but he is not a world leader, not a dependable guide for modern civilization, probably not even a savior of Italy except temporarily. He took a nation drifting into chaos politically and economically, organized it and made it once more a going concern. But his system cannot be the last word. It faces backward, not forward, because it imposes power from above instead of raising it from below.

Before Italy can become really great again, the Italian people must learn to govern themselves. When they do, they will not disband their peace societies and start goose-stepping at any statesman's suggestion. They will throw militarists into the Tiber, resolutely keep the peace and cooperate with other nations similarly civilized.

ROADSIDE EYESORES.

The superintendent of maintenance of the New Jersey state highway commission wants to reduce the number of objectionable hot dog stands and gas stations cluttering up the roadsides. It is not the number of objects to, but their appearance. Ambitious plans for beautification of highways, he says, are being frustrated by the mushroom growth of hideous structures, not only ugly in themselves but decked out with all sorts of billboards, placards and signs advertising their wares. The highway department is handicapped by the fact that it has no jurisdiction over buildings on private property. It is strange how unscrupulous the ordinary commercial institution is regarding ugliness, especially in this age, and how the hot dog and gas station tend to make their ugly faces.

They are spoiling scenery they are also defeating their own purpose. The more signs there are painted on and stuck up around a place, the less attention people pay to any of them, except to shudder and pass on. It has been proved countless times that beauty attracts trade more than ugliness. As for architecture, it often costs more to put up and maintain a good-looking building than an ugly one, and additional cost will usually be more than made up by larger patronage.

Such measures as are ordinarily seen along highways, and also on city thoroughfares, are probably due more to low standards of taste and neatness than anything else. The most common is mere slovenliness, which lets junk and rubbish of all sorts accumulate. The average service station or way-side restaurant needs a housekeeper. The main thing needed is education. Automobile clubs ought to be able to accomplish something. Gasoline companies, though, could do more. The motor industry is making beauty its chief aim. Why cannot the industry serving it help a little?

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY
 James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)
 EPSOM SALTS.

When your liver is not working properly it can cause so much general disability that you feel "half sick" all over the body—tired, gas pains, and a feeling of depression. Fortunately some time in the long ago it was discovered that what was helpful in a great many cases with these symptoms was a dose of Epsom salts.

The idea of giving Epsom salts was that it was such a strong purgative that it cleared out all the wastes in the large intestine. This in itself was worth much to the system, because Dr. Alvarez has shown that when the large intestine is too full of wastes it causes a tired or depressed feeling in the body aside from the absorption of some of this waste matter into the blood.

Another thing about the Epsom salts is that it drains a lot of water out of the body and in this water are poisons in solution. By removing acids and furnishing alkalies to the system, the Epsom salts are also helpful.

However it is only in emergencies, that the Epsom salts should be used—when liver, gall bladder, and intestines are sluggish. Epsom salts taken regularly in large doses will prevent storage of bile in the gall bladder, will make the liver pour out bile too rapidly, and will thin the blood by taking out much of its richness in food value thereby causing anemia. It is only an "emergency remedy."

This research men have been able to make use of Epsom salts in the investigation of the liver and gall bladder. What is known as Lyon's test consists in putting Epsom salts down a tube which goes down through the stomach into the first part of the small intestine into which the bile flows from the liver and gall bladder. The Epsom salts causes the gall bladder to empty itself.

After five minutes specimens of the bile are withdrawn through the tube. The first sample that is withdrawn should be of a transparent, golden yellow color, and comes from the ducts or tubes leading from liver and gall bladder. The second specimen is darker, thicker, and consists of gall bladder bile. The third is thin and watery, coming directly from the liver itself.

By examining the bile coming from these three parts—ducts, gall bladder, and liver—the condition of these various parts can be ascertained. Remember Epsom salts is an excellent remedy for emergencies but not for regular or daily use.

Chapter 32
 A DIFFERENT MAN

"I suppose we all do things on the sly sometimes," Beatrice sighed. "I very nearly eloped myself once. So thankful I didn't though!"

"Sondra seemed devoted enough to Mark," Cass said bluntly, and he wondered if it was not possible for him to warn Sondra that this girl was anything but the friend she pretended to be.

Most women were cats, he decided—thank the Lord he had managed to escape their clutches. "Sondra is simply wonderful," Beatrice agreed with enthusiasm. "I'm going to tea with her this afternoon—Mark is allowed visitors you know, and he says I always cheer him up."

"By the way," Cass said with a desperate effort to turn the conversation. "What has become of Mrs. Lomas?"

My mind there was an unpleasant sort of thought that if only I was 22 enough, I might be sent home to you."

He looked a very different man to the one who had said goodbye to her a few short months ago, but Sondra knew that every day he was gaining strength.

"It's only a question of time"—the doctors had told her. "His heart is naturally weak, but with rest and care he ought to get quite fit and well again."

It was a week since he had been brought home. A queer sort of week it had seemed to Sondra, and even now she had not grown used to being addressed as "Mrs. Merriman" or to the sight of the wedding ring on her finger.

It seemed a long cry back to that rainy morning at the pier and to her own dread of seeing Mark again. Sondra thought. And yet at the first moment of their meeting, pity for him, and a faint returning of the old love she had once felt, had chased all other emotion from her heart.

Since then she had many times tried to understand herself and had failed. She knew that her heart and happiness were in John Anderson's keeping, and yet she knew also that even if now he had been willing to

"I very nearly eloped myself once," Beatrice told Cass.

"I really don't know—I always thought myself that she must have gone away with Jocelyn Farr, but that can't be right, because he's still in town."

"I don't see why, because a woman chooses to leave her husband, it must necessarily be with another man," Cass objected.

Beatrice laughed. "You dear funny old thing—what other reason could there be?"

He shrugged his shoulders helplessly. "I don't understand women," he said. "Seems to me they're a rum lot."

He was utterly thankful when Beatrice said she must go—he breathed a great sigh of relief as she joined a party of friends who had just come in.

A nasty, dangerous girl, that's what she was, he decided; he hoped devoutly she would not make it her business to talk to every one as she had just done to him. Of course he had always known that John was in love with Sondra—but well, if she didn't wish to marry him, it couldn't be helped. Cass liked Sondra and was sorry for her—she hadn't had much of a life. There wouldn't be any harm in warning John anyway; if Sondra was happy with Mark Merriman it was no use taking chances that might lead to the destruction of that happiness.

It was all very perplexing; this marriage business seemed to be the sort of thing of which wise men steered clear.

It would have added greatly to his perplexity could he have seen Sondra at that moment. She was sitting beside Mark, laughing and talking as if she had not a care in the world. Her eyes were bright—a little too bright a careful observer might have thought, and one of her hands held his.

"And when you're able to be moved," she was saying gaily. "Mr. Anderson is going to lead us to the little house I told you about, at the shore. It's lovely there, Mark, the sea is like champagne, and the air perfectly glorious. You'll soon be as well and strong as ever."

Mark smiled—"I feel a different man already, since I found you again, Sondra—it was rotten being ill, but all the time at the back of take her away, she could not have left Mark.

"I suppose there are several kinds of love," she thought helplessly. "Or else I'm not capable of loving one man with my whole heart."

Anderson had been to the nursing home several times, but she had never spoken with him alone. She had sat and watched him while he talked to Mark, a queer little pain in her heart, and yet she was always glad when he went away.

What's the use? What's the use? she asked herself helplessly. I can't ever belong to him, and it's my own fault, so I might as well make the best of it.

But it was a difficult best—at night when she went back to her rooms at Mrs. Sears', things were not so easy, and yet in her own unaccustomed way she tried to be brave although always in her mind was the strange feeling that none of these happenings was real—that it was just a strange phase through which she was passing.

Then one evening when she had come in, tired and dispirited, Mrs. Sears came knocking at the door. "A lady to see you, Miss—"

Sondra looked up without interest.

"Who is it?"

"She wouldn't give a name—but she's quite the lady, M'am."

"Well—ask her to come up," Sondra said.

So few people came to these unpretentious rooms to see her that she naturally felt a little excited.

"The lady, miss," Mrs. Sears said rather resentfully, and Sondra turned to face her sister.

There was a little silence, then Flora laughed. "Behold how the mighty are fallen!" she said.

"Where have you been? And how do you find me?" Sondra asked. "And do come in and shut the door."

Flora obeyed and they stood looking at one another silently till Sondra asked again: "How did you find me?"

"I rang John Anderson and he told me."

"Oh—and did he tell you... that I am married?"

(Copyright, 1932, by Ruby M. Ayres)

Flora started Sondra, tomorrow, with news of her future plans.

Ed and Joe Winkler and Elwyn Davis, tall anders with oats harvesting, have been bothered more than a little by the showers which of late are coming down over the Wittenbergs almost daily. Added to this both have been hindered by their threshing machines getting out of whack. But all's well that ends well and the boys are hoping to get all cleaned up Saturday afternoon, barring further mishaps and good behavior on the part of the weather man. And with the other contending difficulties Mr. Davis is nursing a badly bloodshot right eye, caused by being struck squarely in the orb by an oat kernel or some other small flying object while feeding the thrasher.

Reports are that the Thursday night I. O. O. F. dance scored a tremendous social hit. The spacious auditorium was crowded with merry-makers and the Metropolitan band played to gala favor with each performance. MRS. LUTHER CONDEMNS COMMENT ON PICTURE

My attention has been called to an article appearing in the issue of the Daily Freeman of date Wednesday, August 10, written by a lady signing herself, Another Woman Who Likes the Best.

The article mentions several pictures seen and enjoyed, which she endorses as worth while.

I wish to personally, as well as in the name of my committee to thank you not only for the article but for your cooperation, and also for bringing these pictures to our attention. I am sure the Reader Theatre will be only too glad to cooperate with us by bringing these pictures to our city as soon as possible. I also ask the writer to communicate with me even though you are not a club woman. We are glad for your cooperation. If others would follow along the same lines it would be most helpful to our work.

Our pictures are improving, our managers are beginning to realize what we want, and while trying to at the same time please the masses, they are bringing better pictures.

They know we will pay our money for the best. It is quite true many good pictures pass by unnoticed, because our direct attention has not been called to them. How helpful it would be if others who see a worthwhile picture elsewhere would bring it to the attention of the committee. We want just such help.

Our managers tell us they have a good picture coming, their intent is good, but sometimes seen from box office receipts it is for them a good picture but what the critical public will think is another problem.

We are not condemning them because we are trying to keep in mind the investment involved, and do not expect the impossible miracles in so short a time. We are satisfied at the moment that they are trying to please and work with us for better results. So let us try to be generous to all, look for the good instead of the bad. After all life is but a motion picture. True we see enough of the bad and sordid without being obliged to look at it on the screen, but so many of us are inclined to look for the bad instead of the good. Even the worst picture has its lesson for good if we will look for it.

Let us take the Greta Garbo picture. Many would condemn it. I call it a marvelous picture with a good moral lesson. It teaches a marvelous lesson of right thinking and helpfulness to a mentally ill soul who only needs help to come back to her real self. It is beautifully done, and while a most difficult subject, the characterization and acting are marvelous bits of work, ending with a marvelous lesson portraying what love, patience and faith can do. I advise you to see it.

Let's be fair, give it a chance, try to help instead of being mud slingers. Try to remember one recommends what another condemns. The public should stop blaming the producers for declining to make good pictures for poor audiences and in turn furnishing good audiences for poor pictures. There should be more organized cooperation and less organized opposition between the motion picture industry and those sincerely interested in pictures from the social point of view. The organized industry favors this, and spends much effort in promoting it. Misunderstanding is fatal to progress. Let us try to understand and work with them for our own ultimate good.

I personally feel our Kingston managers one and all are not only willing but anxious to cooperate and bring the best to us. They realize if we spend our money we have a right to demand the best and are willing to give the best, if in turn we will spend our money. We must not lose sight of the one fact, with them it is an investment. If we have a real grievance they are willing to listen to it and do all in their power to better the conditions. Let us try to do our part.

MRS. FRED P. LUTHER, Chairman Motion Picture Committee.

POUGHKEEPSIE DEMOCRATS ENDORSE H. N. LEHMAN

Merchants Prepared For Gala Dollar Day

Kingston's biggest sales event—Dollar Day—will be observed by the merchants of the city on Wednesday, and all arrangements to make the day one of the most noteworthy ever held were completed today, and with favorable weather conditions it is expected that the stores will be thronged with purchasers all day.

Not in years has merchandise been priced so attractively and a glance through the advertisements in The Freeman this evening will well repay those who are seeking to make a dollar go further than it ever went before.

2,222 PEOPLE REGISTER AT SKY TOP DURING JULY

New Paltz, Aug. 16.—There were 2,222 people who registered their names in the book in the Memorial Tower at Sky Top, Mohont, during the month of July. Twenty-two states are represented. Many of the visitors were from foreign countries, including Germany, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Spain, Italy, Honolulu, France, Nova Scotia, Ontario, Ireland, Venezuela, Norway and Switzerland.

Merchants in all lines of merchandise are cooperating to make Dollar Day the biggest day of its kind in the mercantile history of Kingston.

In the uptown business district there is parking space to accommodate 3,000 cars, and the police department will cooperate in directing visiting shoppers to the nearest parking space where they may park their cars while they visit the stores.

All of the store windows have been attractively decorated for the occasion with all articles marked with the price tag. Many today went window shopping to be in readiness for the opening of the stores on Wednesday morning.

Olive in Commerce

We do not know when man first cultivated the olive, but Syria is regarded as the first home of the fruit. Pliny, Roman naturalist of the first century, A. D., referred to some 15 varieties grown in his time. The olive thrives in California and Mexico. The fruit, as packed for American consumption, comes in three styles—green, ripe, and stuffed.

Early "Paradise"

The word paradise comes from the Persian language, writes J. H. Wharton in the Vancouver Province. Zoroastrian was the first Greek writer to use the word "paradise" in describing the large park attached to the palace of Cyrus in Persia, through which the river Meander flowed, and which was stocked with animals of the chase.

From $12 a Week to $28,000,000

It is no wonder that George Slaughter and his granddaughter, Martha Slaughter, are smiling broadly. George is sixty-five years old and has been working in Santa Rosa, Calif., for $12 a week, but has learned that he and a brother and sister have fallen heirs to a $28,000,000 estate left them by their granduncle, John E. Slaughter, whom they never had seen.

SITUATION BETWEEN U. S. AND CANADA DESCRIBED

Describing the field of research in which he is engaged as "finding out for yourself what other people already know", Professor James T. Shotwell of Columbia University and internationally known economist, related a number of his experiences in his work of attempting to adjust international relationships, before a large audience at the Woodstock Country Club on Sunday afternoon. The occasion was the sixth of a series of guest-speaker teas which have become one of the outstanding features of the club's activities.

After telling some of his experiences as a member of the Institute of Pacific Relations in connection with affairs of Japan and China, also of the economic and social effects of the war on Europe, Professor Shotwell dwelt at some length on the U. S. A.-Canadian situation.

Relations between the two countries have been apparently so good for many years, said Professor Shotwell, "that people of the United States think there is no problem. As a matter of fact the relations between the two countries are by no means 'happy.' To illustrate this point he told a story of meeting a prominent Canadian who told him that in Montreal when a social affair is to be held and it is learned that an American will be present the host telephones to all the other guests and asks if it will be all right.

Mr. Shotwell asserted that Canada would be better off as a part of the American union but there is not the ghost of a chance of such a thing happening. He said that Canadians would rather be poor Canadians than rich as part of these "degenerate" United States.

The hostesses at the tea were Mrs. Edward Perkins and Mrs. Downer. Next Sunday the guest speaker will be Jefferson Machamer, well known illustrator and raconteur.

Snakeskin in Birds' Nests

The biological survey says that there are several American birds which use snakeskin in their nests. This is not exactly used for the purpose of lining them, and in fact, the exact purpose cannot be accurately guess, though it may be with an idea of adornment. The great crested flycatcher always uses snakeskin and the tufted titmouse often does.

Nature's Gift to Salmon

During the mating season the male salmon develops fierce canine teeth with which to defend its mate and prevent other species of fish from dining on her spawn.

Feminine beauty and loveliness are absolutely unattainable without the cleanliness that only a thorough cleansing with hot water can give you
◆ The error so many women commit lies in postponing this necessary cleansing because they haven't time to wait for water to heat
◆ Automatic hot water is a beauty service no woman can afford to be without in her home
◆ See your dealer today about having an automatic gas water heater installed

Tips on CONTRACT

AVOIDING NO-TRUMP
OVERCALLS.
By TOM O'NEIL.

It often is better to name a suit rather than no-trump after an opponent has opened the bidding. A no-trump offer tips off the enemy how to finesse. The expert prefers in such situations to overcall with a suit, even highly shaded, until he sees how his partner is fixed.

Here is a hand in which a no-trump overcall, even with a fair hand, was termed "horrible" by such a master as Waldemar von Zedtwitz:

NORTH KARN		SOUTH
♠ 9 8 4	♥ 10 7 5	♠ 10 8 7 5	♥ 4 3
♦ J 8 6 3	♣ 9 7 4 2	♦ 10 8 7 5	♣ 4 3
♠ 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♥ 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♠ 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♥ 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
♦ 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♣ 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♦ 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2	♣ 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

Having a good hand with two five-card biddable suits, Karn started with the major, bidding one spade. Boscowitz, having the spades stopped, offered one no trump.

Karn could not see game possible from his hand, unless Reith had better than a minimum opening, so he doubled the one no-trump, confident of being able to see it.

von Zedtwitz passed and Reith bid three clubs, one more than necessary, a force upon partner commanding him to keep the bidding open until a game contract should be reached.

Boscowitz and von Zedtwitz passed during the rest of the auction. Over the three clubs Karn offered three no-trump. Reith went to four clubs and Karn closed off with four spades.

Success for the declarer was due largely to leading the seven of spades and letting it ride when Boscowitz failed to cover. The no-trump bid by Boscowitz gave a tip as to the probability of a successful finesse.

"Horrible bid, huh?" said von Zedtwitz as Reith was tallying up the count of game and rubber. "If anything, you should have bid two diamonds."

In that case the final contract probably would have been the same, but the chances are that Reith would not have taken a deep finesse and would have been set. Here was the play:

FASHIONS by ELEANOR GUNN

The Feather Turban—of Looped Velvet-Pastel Ostrich or Pheasant

Copyright, 1932, by Fairchild.

The turban at upper left is of purest velvet and gives width to the sides in a leaf design.

Below is another turban of ostrich. The natural feathers are trich in which the flues are looped worked into a design of crescents and laid flat like curls. The twist for a border, repeated in the high of matching velvet suggests a one-back trimming.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Bobbed hair is still very prevalent in Paris, with the back of the hair cut very short, while the sides may be somewhat longer and curled over the ears.

Veils are worn in a shallow line, which holds the exposed side of the coiffure in place.

All-weather hats will be important, and flat feather trims discreetly placed are endorsed.

Among the woollens that have already been seen in blouse collections, it is evident that striped effects are best liked. The stripes prevail both in the construction design and in the use of colors.

A yellow-pink that is called Bisque or Crevette is being well received.

A feature of some belts is the enormous wooden buckle, about three to four inches in diameter, done in a round plaque and always very richly carved. The wood often resembles the rich rose brown of rosewood.

In summer lingerie, pantie styles have been favored, and it is believed that many women who have formerly worn bloomers will take to wearing loose-legged capped panties.

It is possible to go entirely through the season with the oxford shoe, so many are the variations which are being shown for fall.

Nation's Smallest County

New York county, New York, is the smallest in the United States and has an area of only 22 square miles. Its population in 1930 totaled 1,867,312. The county seat is New York city. New York city is incorporated in more than one county.

Most Northerly City

Hammerfest, "northernmost city in the world," lies in Lapland, well within the Arctic circle. It is the jumping-off place for Spitzbergen, whither tourist steamers go in mid-summer to introduce the traveler to the polar regions.

Fairy Story.

"I've got a lot of work to do at the office tonight and won't be home for dinner," said the broker to his wife over the telephone. "If you need me for anything, you can get me at the Chummy cabaret."—Kansas City Star.

Oldest Printing Extant

The oldest example of printing still in existence is believed to be the Kompon-Darani, a Buddhist prayer, printed from wooden type, in 756 A. D., in an edition of 1,000,000 copies, by order of the Japanese Empress Kokei. It is owned by the Art Institute of Chicago.

Fashionable Traffic Gets A Red Light

New York—Every woman, once crossed the term "Irish crocheted" and realizes that, even in the fashion world, the Irish question is never settled. There is always an outbreak of Irish crochets somewhere. Just now, it is not the lace itself but the patterns peculiar to it that has attracted attention. The dress sketched, for instance, borrows its pattern from Irish lace, presenting an effect that is both different and interesting.

It is not to be supposed that all women are going to wear red all through the coming winter and for all occasions, yet how easy it is to get that impression now! One would think that red had just been discovered, so enthusiastic are those who have adopted it. If you intend to go in heavily for burgundy or any of the other wine shades, lose no time in doing so. Dark reds are too popular for their own good.

When you are casting about for new fabric combinations, as you surely will be this fall, do not forget suede with wool. The alliance is new and very sportive in effect—English, too, if that means anything to you, and it should when you are thinking in terms of sports clothes.

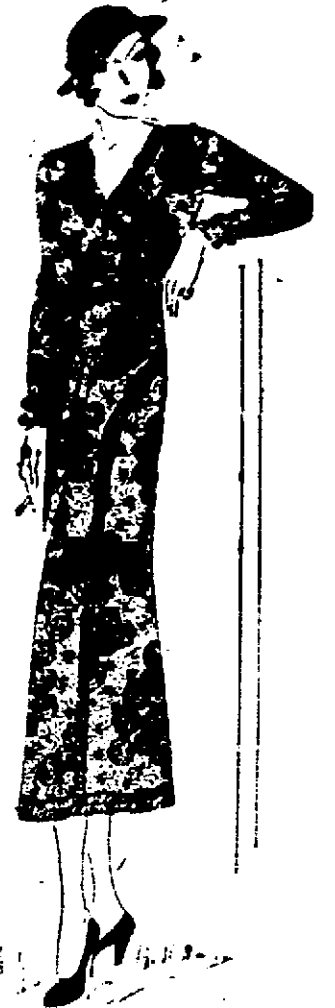

This reminds me to bring up the subject of the English drape, a type of tailored suit which has revolutionized the men's wear industry and which, having got itself talked about in masculine circles, has now wedged its way into feminine sports and tailored circles. Women are not so excited over it as the men are, because they are not, as a class, such sticklers for conservative tailored clothes. The English drape is among the nonchalant tailleur types and is one that you are going to like in the new casual-looking fashions.

The college set like the English drape and they like the combination of suede with sturdy-looking rough woollens. Such woollens are equally at home in town or country, which is something one cannot say for the smoother and more formal fabrics. The popular interpretation of the suede-and-wool alliance is, of course, the suede jacket with woolen skirt, laid usually.

Wool Crepes Again Smart

Wool crepe is more important than ever. Besides being fashionable, it comes in lovely colors. Reds are of dominant interest and appear in a variety of shades, among which the rose tinted shades are especially important. Then there are the wine shades and the beetroot red. Among the bright tones are paprika and the clear Japanese red.

Orange is a color to be reckoned with. The dark true browns remain to the fore and achieve individuality in combination with light or bright colors, including peach, orange and yellow with green or turquoise blue. Navy remains outstanding and often appears in the simpler frocks, with linen or pique collars and cuffs.

CROCHET GLOVES

By CLAUDE MACDONALD

Here is something new in hand-crocheted accessories. These gloves are all latest Paris edict. A few of the more exclusive shops are carrying them here, but naturally, with the duty, the handwork and all the rest, they are by no means cheap. A pair like the ones pictured may be copied at the outlay of only a few cents, and it requires comparatively little time to make them. To crochet them requires two balls each of sizes 10 and 30 mercerized cotton, or you can use a double strand of the size 30 crochet thread where directions call for the size 10. It may appear difficult to crochet these chic gloves, but really, they are as easy to make as a simple scarf or a beret or one of the new collar and cuff sets. Use No. 11 steel crochet hook. Most any fancywork department or specialty shop will supply directions.

Pique Trimming

Pique is a dominating fabric. It is used for collar and cuffs and pipings on dark blue or black frocks for daytime occasions.

Rainbow Eyelashes Are Latest Extravagance

Artificial silk eyelashes of rainbow hue, marvelously attached to the real lashes are Paris' latest fashion extravagance. Blue, red and green lashes are "worn" with lids of silver or gold and the lips must be colored to match the gown.

"Powder cocktails," the shades combined to make a mixture appropriate to madame's mood—green for jealousy, purple for passion—are another vogue.

As to lipsticks, there is no end to the variety of colors in these. Pale yellow, to be used with a green face powder, is favored by one expert.

Boucle and Lisle

Suits of boucle and lacy lises are much worn at the smart resorts especially by older women who like the formality of a jacket suit. White suits are featured by the most important shops.

BETH: Like my yellow suit, Ethel? It's one of those new ribbed cottons.

ETHEL: It's darling—but do you suppose it will wash?

BETH: Oh perfectly—with LUX. These new cottons should always be Luxed—just like silks and woollens. Then they keep their color and fit—stay just like new! I always Lux all my things—

"First I test the fabric (the end of a belt or an inside seam) in water. If the color doesn't run in water it won't run in Lux. My primed silks and chiffons look color-fresh and new after a washing in lukewarm Lux suds!"

"Lux never shrinks woollens—or spoils the fit of my knitted things. That's why I always Lux my lacy wool dresses and sweaters. I use lukewarm suds—gently pull wool things into shape after washing. I dry them flat."

"The new linens and cottons are really fine fabrics. Ordinary soaps or cake soap rubbing too often spoils color and texture. I Lux my striped linens, gingham, chiffon veils—lace and organic evening dresses, too."

Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkalis which weaken threads, fade colors. Lux has no harmful alkalis, nothing to harm the delicate color or fabric. Anything safe in water alone is safe in Lux.

Women Prefer Perfumed Hosiery

PERFUMED hosiery is a woman's choice of hosiery. Following tests recently made by the Commerce Department in Washington, a Pittsburgh department store experimented with the influence of various perfumes on feminine taste in hosiery. It was found that women unconsciously select a perfumed stocking in preference to an unperfumed one. Most of them prefer a narcissus aroma. So perfumed hosiery will be soon be offered everywhere. The photograph shows a sales girl conducting the tests with Victoria Burdell and Jean Lewis.

At The Theatres

Today.

Kinross Reserved for Ladies.—August as clever and loquacious a bit of sophisticated comedy as has ever been staged in some time. The show is fast and beautiful, the action is peppy and comical, and the plot is a real gem. It's the story of a cultured head waiter who is asked to marry the one and only girl in the room. Leslie Howard stars the show, with some of the best acting. Elizabeth Allen, a newcomer, is an "Exquisite and lovely" actress. Her name is, however, a new name. Some good work. A play that will appeal to almost anybody.

Thunder Below.—A trail tale of the tropics, in which a girl loves her husband's best friend. Tedric Blackhead contributes some splendid acting as the woman in love with another man. Charles Bickford and Paul Lukas both try hard in sympathetic roles.

"As You Desire Me."—Greta Garbo made this her best picture, and departed for Sweden. It leaves behind a performance that will long be remembered, for this picture leaves little to be desired. It's the beautifully photographed story of a girl living in Budapest with her lover, a depraved novelist. A friend sees her, and begs her to return to her husband, a titled Italian, from whom she has separated. She goes back to him, but her mind, steeped in the past, does not function properly. Now is Miss Garbo more appealing than in this difficult characterization, and her acting is superlative. Melvyn Douglas, Owen Moore and Fay Wray are all effective as members of the fine supporting cast.

Tomorrow.

Kingston: "Radio Patrol."—Well, entertainment, filled with suspense, action, laughter and tragedy, all mixed skillfully into a well balanced and enjoyable picture. It's a talkie that glorifies the American police. What the men who serve the law have to do and act in the line of duty is interestingly brought before the audience. The plot centers around two brother officers, both members of a radio patrol car, and both in love with the same girl. One of them accepts a bribe, and because he does, another police officer is killed and a bank robbed. He proves himself worthy by sticking to his dangerous post where he is killed. Robert Armstrong is outstanding in the role of the officer who accepts the bribe and who sacrifices his life for that mistake, and Lila Lee was never more appealing as the girl who loved and believed in him. June Clyde, Russell Hopton and Andy Devine are also in the cast.

Orpheum: "Gay Diplomats" and "Son of Oklahoma."—A double feature offering with great diversity. The first is the story of a gentleman gigolo who is unusually skillful in the art of making love. Genevieve Tobin and Betty Compson are the favored ladies. Ivan Lebedeff is the handsome lover. "Son of Oklahoma" is a Bob Steele Western opera, that has got play, horse play and a bit of a plot.

Broadway: Same.

"Goat Castle"—One Scene In The Tragedy

Like a stage play reads the real life story of the slaying of Miss Jane Merrill, Natchez, Miss., splinter, who once was a leader in southern society. Her body was found at her secluded estate, "Glen Burnee," where she lived alone. Richard Dana, and his housekeeper, Octavia Duckery, who lived nearby in the crumbling mansion shown above are charged with her death. They, too, once were prominent in society, but in recent years had raised goats in their "goat castle" on the dilapidated porch of which can be seen a buggy.

Mental Clinic Will Be Held On Friday

On Friday, Aug. 19, the Middletown State Homeopathic Hospital will hold a mental clinic in the Knights of Columbus Building, corner of Broadway and Andrew streets, Kingston, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. All patients on parole from this hospital are requested to report at this clinic, and persons who have relatives and friends in the hospital are invited to attend. Free consultation and advice will be given to anyone who desires to talk with the physician about his own mental condition or that of a relative or friend.

"CAMP SNORE A WHILE" IS A VERY POPULAR PLACE

Brown Station, Aug. 15.—The most popular place in Brown Station at present seems to be "Camp Snore-A-While." The proprietors are George Groves and Edmund Rochford of Kingston. Everything goes along "swimmingly," especially when they all go for a swim which is quite often.

Thursday evening the boys entertained their friends of Brown Station. Edmund Rochford proved himself an expert at making fudge and he made a very generous supply of it. "Dada" Groves groaned in despair as he saw the dishes pile up as a result of the fudge making. But it was well worth all the work.

As the moon came over the mountain the whole crowd was seriously absorbed in a weenie roast. Never did hot dogs taste better. The moonlight evening was a perfect setting for such a party.

Among those present besides the hosts were John Murphy, Mrs. Whalen, Jim and Joe Cook, Esther, Donald and Kenneth Zimmerman, Betty and Jack Whalen and Katherine Quinn. They all departed at a late hour well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

On Friday the members of "Camp Snore-A-While" and friends Betty and Jack Whalen and Esther Zimmerman enjoyed a hike to Krum's Beach at Atwood.

That evening Edmund and "Dada" entertained their friends again. This time pinochle and other games were enjoyed.

So with swimming, hiking, games and camp duties everyone is busy all the time. And if anyone thinks that camping out is not lots of fun, they just want to try it and they will soon find out differently.

Can't Fly When Fins Dry

The flying fish does not really fly. It raises itself from the water by means of its long fins, and it can support itself in the air until they become dry, when it drops back into the sea.

Lost 20 Lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and firmness. I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know. For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at McBride Drug Stores or any druggist—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and after the first bottle you are so joyfully satisfied with results—money back.

Olympic Flag
The flag used for the Olympic games has an arrangement of five circles on white or neutral background. The three upper circles, blue, black and red, do not touch, but they are joined by two lower circles of yellow and green, which, in turn, do not touch each other. The blue circle represents Europe; the black, Africa; the red, America; the yellow, Asia, and the green, Australia.

As the hours pass
A man is slightly taller in the morning than he is in the evening, a medical man states. "Slightly" doesn't seem quite the right word for it, at least not the right one to describe his feeling. A man sometimes gets up in the morning feeling as if his eyes were on a level with a giraffe's ears, and goes to bed feeling that he could look under a dashboard without stooping. —Harvard News.

Ulster Past Grands Meet at Olive Bridge

West Shokan, Aug. 15.—On Saturday evening, August 13, Shokan I. O. O. F. Lodge acted most graciously the part of host to the largest and most auspicious assemblage of the Ulster County Past Grands Association ever held in the four years of its existence. The session was preceded by a brief regular session of Shokan Lodge, at which many of the visitors were present, Noble Grand Clifford B. Donahoe presiding.

A matter of especial note was the arrangements in regard to the grand lodge parade to be held Wednesday evening at Poughkeepsie. The committee on arrangements was authorized to charter one of the Merrifield Brothers' busses, which will leave the lodge hall at Olive Bridge 11, O. O. F. hall promptly at 5 p. m., daylight saving time, August 17. The route will be through Stone Ridge and Kingston, which will give Odd Fellow and Rebekah members and others who care to attend an opportunity en route to make the trip at a very reasonable charge, without attendant worries in regard to traffic and parking their own conveyances in Poughkeepsie. There are a number, however, who plan to make the trip privately.

Immediately upon the close of the lodge session the Past Grands' Association convened with President Bradley Shultis, of William H. Raymond Lodge, No. 59, presiding. The session was opened in regular form, during which prayer was offered by Past Grand Clarence Shultis of Bearsville Lodge, No. 533, as chaplain. Minutes of the last session held the second Saturday in June were read for information by the secretary, Past District Deputy Sidney Johnson, of Aretas Lodge, No. 172. Next followed in impressive form the introduction into membership of the association of Past Grand Cortland Rodney of Bearsville Lodge. The secret work of the degree was given by the presiding officer, Bradley Shultis.

The guest of honor was President Fitzpatrick of Goshen, head of the Past Grands' Association of Orange county, who upon instruction of the chairman, was escorted to the noble grand's station and introduced most graciously by Past President and Past District Deputy Arthur E. Trowbridge, of Shokan Lodge. Mr. Fitzpatrick in well fitting words stated that for long the progressive workings and sociabilities of Olive Bridge Lodge had been heralded Orange countyward and it was a most coveted privilege for himself and members of his party to come "over the mountain" and gain first hand information. Mr. Fitzpatrick stated he would reserve his main remarks for the open session later, when all I. O. O. F. members might be admitted. The speaker was made to feel at home and cordially welcomed by a most enthusiastic round of applause.

Under the head of new business a motion was unanimously carried that the secretary send suitable resolutions of sympathy to the wives of the two recently deceased members, Brothers W. Miller of U. S. Grant Lodge and William Burgher of Shokan Lodge. Both were long time and devoted members of the order, and took most keenly an open interest in the Past Grands Association. There were a number of suggestions offered by members of the parade committee and other members present in regard to the parade formation to be taken by the Past Grands Association and individual lodges in the District of Ulster. The Ulster county division of the parade which is sponsored by the association will be headed by members of the body, led by the Highland Fife and Drum Corps. Except for the members of Sunshine Lodge of Highland who will parade in uniform, the various I. O. O. F. and Rebekah Lodges in the district taking part will parade as collective units according to final instructions. Other matters were speedily dispensed with, when the doors were opened to all members and those who felt inclined to leave the all absorbing card games going on in the auditorium below joined the auspicious gathering. In behalf of Shokan Lodge Past Deputy Mr. Trowbridge extended to all present a most cordial welcome, stating the great pleasure felt by the lodge at the opportunity to entertain at such a time when perhaps never was so prominent a group of Odd Fellows assembled at Olive Bridge.

At this time the privilege of the floor was again extended. President Fitzpatrick of Orange county, who reviewed his previous remarks for the benefit of those who came in after the open meeting, Mr. Fitzpatrick told of Odd Fellowship in Orange county and of the progress made by the Past Grands Association. That the meetings are held every month on the last Friday night, and that the place of meeting is rotated in order among the fifteen lodges in the district. He told of his experiences attending Grand Lodge sessions and of its workings which for the most part are as Greek to the average first time representative. He stated that for any lodge hoping to find recognition in Grand Lodge circles that it was necessary to select some outstanding member and send him as a delegate every year. He stated that the Grand Lodge edict of a few years ago in making the minimum fee of initiation $25.00 had worked for the detriment rather than the benefit of Odd Fellowship in Orange county.

He said he believed that each lodge should be privileged to name its own entrance fees according to existing local conditions. That whereas large city lodges might readily collect $25 or $50 which would include club privileges, etc., of a social nature, that conditions in the country districts were upon an entirely different plane. Herefore the great preponderance of representatives from urban centers have repeatedly crushed the feeble resistance offered at Grand Lodge against the $25 minimum fee. But under present general conditions the crying need for a $15 minimum fee has come to be felt even among some of its most bitter opponents, and this week when the question comes up at the Poughkeepsie session of Grand Lodge, that it will be accorded a much more favorable attitude.

Throughout his talk Mr. Fitzpatrick proved a most convincing as well as a humorous speaker, as he touched upon various subjects and conditions of the day. He said that at present the horse racing industry was an all absorbing subject in Orange county, where some of the world's most noted horsemen and horses are competing in the races at Goshen. Mr. Fitzpatrick closed his remarks by stating that the trip "over the mountains" to see what they could see by himself and members of his party to Mr. Olive Lodge had exceeded his colorful expectations and that much for the promotion of Orange county Odd Fellowship would be derived from their visit. He extended to the members of the Ulster association a most cordial invitation to come over the border in full force and attend any of their meetings.

Past Deputy Saxon, of New York city, was the next speaker. His views and experience in regard to Grand Lodge procedure coincided with that of his predecessor. That there was urgent need for stronger cooperation among country lodges operating through a chain of regional Past Grands' associations throughout the state in order to make their case serve efficiently in the well oiled machinery of accustomed Grand Lodge practices. Mr. Saxon is a member having at heart the general good of the order and comes from one of the great metropolitan lodges. He is a convincing and pleasing speaker. On various occasions he has driven up from New York city and back the same night in order to meet with his brothers in Ulster county.

Past President and District Deputy J. Henry Hill of William H. Raymond Lodge of Saugerties was present and made his final address to the members of the Past Grands Association before relinquishing his office to his successor, Jacob H. Rogers, of Catskill Mountain Lodge. He spoke with emotion of the great privilege he felt in being present and of the wonderful cooperation he had received among the lodges about the district during his term of office. In behalf of William H. Raymond Lodge he extended a cordial invitation to the Past Grands Association to hold its next meeting in Saugerties, the time of which is the second Saturday night in October. Deputy Hill's service during his term of office has been of the highest standard and has been accorded marked success throughout Ulster District, and he leaves behind a record second to none among the very wonderful deputies of recent years.

There were brief remarks or suggestions heard from various other prominent in Ulster county Odd Fellowship.

Among the many present at the session not previously mentioned were as follows: Past District Deputy Henry A. Lamouree of Catskill Mountain Lodge, No. 487, Matthew Williams of Bearsville Lodge, No. 533, Virgil C. Gordon of Shokan Lodge, also David Bush and Sidney A. Johnson of Aretas Lodge, No. 172.

Deputy Hill's staff was present as well as part of the staffs of the previous deputies, which included that of Charles B. Wright of U. S. Grant Lodge, No. 529, who was not present in person. There were also present three of the district's oldest Past Grands, John Halliday of Garfield Lodge, Simon Bishop of Shokan Lodge and John Kelder of Aretas Lodge.

Among others were District Deputy elect Jacob H. Rogers previously noted, also next year's deputy in line, J. J. Donovan of Sunshine Lodge, No. 929, who has had much to do as a member of the grand lodge parade committee.

With the hour growing late the remainder of the session was speedily dispensed with and closed with the benediction pronounced by Chaplain Shultis.

Downstairs a group of the ever ready members of Olive Rebekah Lodge had for long been in waiting the serving of a well rounded refreshment menu, which included among the list of dainties ham and cheese sandwiches, cake, coffee, lemonade, ice cream and cigars as a nightcap. The time was by now well past midnight, but through thick and thin the overworked card enthusiasts had continued their offerings. But all's well that ends well and after a most generous collection had been presented the good ladies for their magnificent part in the affair, the good brothers thinned out rapidly, and each visiting member was thoroughly convinced that nowhere could be found more good fellowship and all around hospitality than that bestowed so freely by the home lodge and the good sister Rebekah.

SEVERAL BAD PLACES IN CITY PAVEMENTS

There have been numerous complaints of the condition of the roadway just at the entrance to the driveway into the courtyard from Wall street, used for official cars. There is a considerable depression that adds to the difficulty of drivers who have to negotiate this entrance from Wall street traffic. In addition, a good deal of the time it is filled with dirty water.

Another road condition that could be remedied without a great deal of labor is to be found on Hurley avenue, where a number of holes in the paving not only inconvenience drivers entering the city from that direction, but are possible causes of accidents, especially on the sharp turn near the city line.

Poughkeepsie Postal Head to Enforce Rule

According to the Poughkeepsie Evening Star firms of that city are attempting to beat the depression and escape postage fees by delivering bills and advertising matter to city residents have been secured by the federal postal department and will be forced to use a new procedure in accordance with the postal rules which prohibits the placing of extraneous matter in private city mail boxes. Postmaster Conklin, who received this morning a verification of the postal regulation from Washington, D. C., intimated that he will take immediate steps to stop local business establishments from placing bills and circulars in mail boxes, and will instruct all carriers to remove the same from boxes when possible.

This ruling will conflict with the present procedure of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation in delivering bills. It was said Postmaster Conklin will confer with the company on their postal policy.

According to the postal regulation governing this delivery procedure carriers must remove all extraneous matter from boxes and place the same at some convenient place near the box. With mail boxes filled to overflowing, as is now the condition, with advertising and circulars as well as bills, postal carriers are noticeably delayed in making deliveries.

In many instances mail has been stolen or taken as a result of the mail boxes being filled with litter.

Word from Washington suggests that all merchants be requested to abide by the postal ruling.

In rural routes postal carriers are instructed to return extraneous matter of any kind which may be in the large boxes to the postoffice where they are held for postage. This ruling is not applicable to the city boxes.

MILTON TOMATO CROP REPORTED VERY GOOD

Milton, Aug. 16.—Jefferson Snell of Winter Haven, Fla., expert fruit packer and the head of the packing crew now getting local tomatoes ready for shipment, is raising tomatoes also this year. Mr. and Mrs. Snell have leased several acres in the Edward Young farm near Milton and are trying their hands at growing them as well as packing them for other people.

Mr. Snell reports that the quality of tomatoes this year is very good in spite of the dry weather. A little dry rain had begun to appear before they arrived in time and enough water fell to prevent any real harm to the crop.

All the tomatoes go to New York city by truck. The trucks have supplanted the railroads and river boats for transportation of fruits and vegetables. Tomato prices have been neither bad nor good this year, so far just what might be called medium. Improvement is expected almost immediately however as the Maryland crop which has been pretty well filling the market is winding up.

All tomatoes are now packed in bags though last year's crates were used. Government standards and specifications are followed.

News of Today In Kingston

You've heard of lands where fishing is played. They've been written about and sung about but you've never heard of this lake where fish play so openly.

The other night on a lake in this vicinity the experience was enjoyed. It was when out skimming the surface in a boat that all the fun began but then after a while it ceased to be fun. Too many fish took up the sport. What sport, you say?

The sport of fish jumping out of the water into the boat. It sounds like a good fish story but it's a fact. The first dozen or so weren't so bad. They were thrown back into the water with good will, but when they began to jump in by twos, and that they did, the skipper got sore. He didn't mind the single ones but the married pairs he resented.

They came in by twos, one time when a school was run over and a class room disturbed. That's the way they traveled, in bunches. Whether they were arm in arm couldn't be seen. However, a school was run over and the dean came to the surface to hawl the skipper out.

Still all horse-play aside, it was unusual. Fish jumped into the boat from all angles. They were small, though. Only about the size of or perhaps a little larger than a sardine. Of course, there were some lengthy ones but the real large fellows stayed in the lake if there were any in the water at all.

To top it all off, the night was splendid. A clear blue sky held up Old Man Moon and a silvery path was stretched across the waters. It was quite attractive. One of these scenes that linger in your mind.

The driving range out around Stony Hollow isn't doing so well this year. Nights it seems to be closed but daytime business appears fair.

Man's Ingenuity Tested by Turbulent River Po

The Po valley is unique among European river basins, because of its great extent of almost level land for long distances inland. Viewed on a relief map, this great tongue of lowland is seen to cut upland Italy almost in two.

Not long ago, geographically, the sea extended into northern Italy along the foot of the Alps almost to the present French border. The Po basin in this old gulf, filled with alluvial material washed down from the mountains. The relatively large flow of the Po, especially at certain seasons, is owing to the fact that the basin is hemmed in on three sides by mountains (the Alps to north and west, the Apennines to the south) and that the run-off from these heights is at times very rapid.

The river flows along virtually the entire stretch of the Italian Alps, and receives water from most of their southern southern glaciers and lakes.

Because the plain of the Po is so nearly level, particularly in its seaward half, the river has brought disastrous floods to the residents along its course, throughout historic times. Even during the early days of Rome, it was necessary to build dikes and embankments to restrain the rising waters.

"Individualism" in Ants and Mankind Compared Social evolution among ants stretches back at least one hundred million years, while human society could hardly be said to have existed two million years ago. Thus human society is a much more recent evolution, and we would expect the individual human to exhibit a greater degree of individualistic behavior compared to social behavior than in the case of the individual ant. Human society has had to build mechanisms for controlling prevalent anti-social tendencies. We all undergo rigid training through the activities of parents, teachers, and others which tend to stimulate the social responses and suppress or redirect the anti-social responses. Even after we reach adulthood, we have need of policemen, lawyers, governments, and ministers to force or persuade us to conform to the social pattern. Ants do not need such mechanisms, for they are born perfectly socialized. They do not need to be taught or persuaded or forced to react socially, for their anti-social tendencies were eliminated long ago through natural selection.—Boston Herald.

Woman Suffrage

Since England launched in 1847 the earliest known handbill for women's suffrage, the crusade for equal rights has cried the globe. The Woman's Rights convention at Worcester, Mass., in October, 1850, followed seven years later by the formation of England's Female Political association, strengthened a movement that continued to make history. Formation of the English organization resulted, after many vicissitudes, in conferring the franchise on women property owners in the Isle of Man about 1850. But not until 1818 was full suffrage granted to the women of England.

Spider Love

Wolf spiders are the hunting spiders that chase their prey and may be seen running through the grass or lurking under stones, especially in damp places. A variety, Lycosa nidifixa, is also classed among the turret spiders and is sometimes called the turret spider. Its home is a tunnel in the ground topped by a small turret of whatever material may be at hand held together with silken threads. Turret spiders making their homes along railroad tracks have been known to build these turrets of cinders, while small stones and twigs are also used for this purpose.

August Crop Report Of Farm Bureau

According to the crop report just released by the United States Department of Agriculture the total United States crop of peaches is likely to be only about half as large as it was last year and over 10 millions bushels less than the ten year average. The prospective crop is estimated at 45,000,000 bushels. The production of peaches in New York state this year is very good. Present prospects point to a crop of about 1,700,000 bushels compared with 1,850,000 bushels produced last season. Through the south the crop has been very light. In California, the production promises to be greater than last year. However in all of the other important peach growing states production promises to be much less than last year.

The New York state report has the following comments to make on various other crops:

Apples.

The condition of the apple crop in the state remains essentially the same as in July. Baldwin is light but with good production of Dutchess, Wealthy Greening, Northern Spy, McIntosh and Ben Davis promised.

Thoroughly sprayed or dusted commercial orchards appear to have less disease and insect injury to date but many commercial orchards have not been well cared for and these show a large amount of injury. In commercial areas the "condition" on August 1 was reported as follows for some of the principal varieties:

	1932	1931	1930
Dutchess	72	50	79
Wealthy	62	50	71
Baldwin	25	64	29
R. I. Greening	68	35	65
N. Spy	55	44	42
McIntosh	70	50	59
Ben Davis	66	50	60

In its distribution over the state, the 1932 apple crop resembles that of 1930, in that nearly all sections have fair crops in sight.

The quantity of apples available for all purposes now appears to be about the same as would have been available had all been gathered in the four Lake Ontario fruit counties, about a sixth greater in the group of counties between these and the southern tier; about two thirds greater in the lower Hudson Valley, and somewhat greater in the Lake Champlain region. These areas include about 80 per cent of all apples grown in the state. The other counties, though irregular, have a total in sight considerably greater than last year.

However, there was fairly heavy abandonment of apples last season due to very low prices for the low grades, windfalls and drop. Abandonment was heaviest, of course, in the non-commercial sections where much of the fruit is of low grade.

The apple crop in the important commercial apple states is estimated as follows:

Commercial Crop (1,000 Bbls.)	5-yr. av.	1932
New England	1,897	1,590
New York	4,588	4,272
Pennsylvania	1,036	1,225
Virginia	2,602	2,040
W. Virginia	1,214	735
Michigan	1,175	935
Missouri	523	170
Idaho	1,340	1,430
Colorado	875	798
Washington	3,206	3,120
Oregon	1,444	1,050
California	1,635	2,494
U. S. Total	22,373	30,171

Pears.

The outlook for pears in the state is still good and the quality promises to be good. The crop is now forecast at about 1,787,000 bushels compared with only about 800,000 bushels harvested last year. Michigan has about 714,000 bushels compared with 484,900 bushels last year. The other eastern and mid-western states indicate light production but the three Pacific coast states have about 15,418,000 bushels compared with 14,729,000 bushels last season.

Grapes.

Production of grapes promises about 57,971 tons this season compared with 57,375 tons harvested in 1931. Comments indicate that some vineyards are receiving less care than usual, which is being reflected in a lighter crop of poorer quality. The quality, however, appears to be good in those vineyards receiving care. Wind storms injured some vines through the Chautauque grape belt earlier in the season. Pennsylvania has prospects for about 23,316 tons compared with 30,500 tons produced last year. Ohio expects about 33,014 tons compared with 31,000 tons a year ago. In Michigan the crop looks like about 70,125 tons, compared with 57,270 tons in 1931. California, however, is expected to have about 1,822,000 tons. Last year California produced only about 1,320,000 tons.

Potatoes.

Harvest has already started on Long Island as well as upstate. On the island the yield is below the earlier expectations. Up to July 1, the condition of the crop was good, but dry weather during July has lowered the prospective yield. So far the yields on the mainland of the state have been good.

Upstate the growth of the plant is very spotted. Fields which were planted at the normal time and received sufficient moisture are generally looking good but those planted late in too dry soil are very backward and may need a late fall to develop. The rapidity with which the plants are growing at the present time is apt to make them tender and easily susceptible to blight should that become prevalent.

The estimated potato crop is as follows:

	1931	1932
New York	25,544,000	22,220,000
Maine	25,544,000	47,850,000
New Jersey	7,531,000	7,655,000
Penn.	25,544,000	19,855,000
Ohio	11,170,000	10,440,000
Michigan	23,750,000	25,175,000
Wisconsin	24,524,000	23,715,000
Minnesota	28,830,000	31,670,000
N. Dakota	5,436,000	12,160,000
Nebraska	7,205,000	11,000,000

MISS IDA M. BUNTING IS VISITING IN CITY.

Quite in line with the special musical activities in Kingston this week, comes the very gratifying and interesting news of one of Kingston's former residents who the city may still claim as a "Kingston musician," Miss Ida Marie Bunting, who is spending some time now at her Kingston home, 12 Staples street.

For several years Miss Bunting has been teaching at the Boston University College of Music under the university's extension. During that time she has been pursuing academic work and has very recently received her degree of Bachelor of Applied Music. In connection with the receiving of her degree, Miss Bunting gave a recital presenting the following exceptionally fine program:

Italian Concerto—Allegro Animato.
Chorale—Pesu, Joy of Man's Desiring.
Prelude in C Sharp Major.
Triana from Iberia.
Pavane pour une Infante defunte.
Impromptu in F Sharp Major.
Ballade in A Flat Major.
Sonata for Violin and Piano, Opus 100, No. 2.
I Allegro Amabile.
II Andante Tranquillo, Vivace, Andante.
III Allegretto Grazioso.

In addition, on July 31, Miss Bunting played at the Newtowne Colony, Vermont, as assisting pianist to Harrison Keller, the well known Boston violinist, who was for years a pupil of Leopold Auer. This program was given by the Newtowne Historical Association as part of a memorial to Eugene Field.

FIND ULSTER ORCHARDS IN FINE CONDITION

Milton, Aug. 16.—As president of the New York State Horticultural Society and one of the most prominent fruit growers of Ulster county, Walter Clarke, greeted 38 members of the Connecticut Pomological Society, who made a tour of the fruit growing districts of Ulster, Columbia and Dutchess counties last week. Mr. Clarke with E. Stuart Hubbard of Manchester and Lawrence Howard of Kinderhook, visited several well known orchards in Dutchess county last Tuesday and on Wednesday crossed the Hudson and inspected orchards of Mr. Clarke and Myron Hazen of Milton as well as those of Joseph Deyo of Gardiner and others near New Paltz and Modena. The tour ended at the extensive orchards of Mr. Clarke. Thursday the men made a trip through the apple growing districts near Red Hook and were guided by Mr. Clarke and Mr. Howard. Before they left for Hartford, their starting point, all expressed their appreciation of the fine condition of the orchards visited in Ulster county.

Caseys' Win In Belated Rally; Tied With Forsts

Once again the adage that says "it can happen in a baseball game" was proven in the City League game at the Athletic Field Monday evening. In the weirdest game yet played in the league the Knights of Columbus came out a 14-10 victor over the Schryvers Lumbermen, then by gaining a tie with the Forsts Butchers for first place in the standing of the first half, necessitating a play-off, which will be played at a later date.

With every indication pointing to a shut-out and the score tied 0-0 in the sixth inning the Casey started a rally and probably would still be going if darkness hadn't halted them. They pushed, scored and chased 14 runners across the platter in this inning and established a record for the league and possibly all other leagues.

Rud North, who had set the Casey down for the first time, having only 16 men to face him during the time, was the victim of the assault. But he wasn't the only one. He was followed by a string of elbows. A young fellow by the name of Hulsair, newcomer in the league, took up where North left off and was followed by Peterson and Myers. After the Casey started to hit all pitchers were treated alike.

Al Flanagan, who got the first hit off North and three safeties out of three trips to the plate, led the winning attack with a single. Carpenter repeated and then Fitzgerald put the Casey into the run column by poling a home run into right field. Clayton received a walk. Clarke reached first on Peterson's error and Joyce walked to fill the sacks.

Steigewald sent Clayton home with a single and Clarke scored when Peterson tossed wild to the catcher. Burgevin was safe on Myers' error and Cullum forced Steigewald at third, Joyce scoring. Flanagan poled his second hit of the inning and Burgevin scored. Carpenter singled and Hulsair, who was pitching now, allowed Cullum to score when he made a wild pitch. Fitzgerald walked and Clayton singled to score Flanagan and Carpenter. Clarke singled to score Fitzgerald. Joyce sent home Clayton and Clarke with another hit, scoring presently when Beat led the ball go through him. Steigewald poled another single and then Burgevin and Cullum struck out purposely to end the rally.

Flanagan, Carpenter, and Steigewald garnered two hits apiece during the rally. Steigewald got three hits out of four chances, one of them being a triple, for the evening. The Lumbermen scored their runs in the first, second, four and sixth innings. They registered four in the first, one in the second, four more in the fourth and one in the sixth.

Johnny Carpenter was the winning pitcher. He was hit hard in the first two innings, but his teammates fendered terribly in the field, making eight errors. Johnny also committed an error which didn't do him any good.

North was so disconcerted in the last inning that he pitched at one time before the batter was near the box.

Flanagan was having a fine nap off first base in the fourth inning and of course was put out.

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

One of the explanations for the record breaking results of the Olympic games and field sports may be that they had the Pines on Irish stew, the Americans occasionally on beefsteak.

While the British forces consumed quantities of Oriental tea.

Certainly there were no noteworthy instances of the athletes, especially the transmer American type, eating themselves out of the championships the way they did four years ago at the battle of Amsterdam.

Chaos at the Olympic village worked under strict orders and the whole system was much better calculated than ever before to keep close tabs on the performances of the athletes at the vating table.

The Brazilians brought their own coffee, enough of it in fact to sell quantities for expense money, while the Pines brought along several crates of their favorite hard bread.

Otherwise American resources were relied upon to fill various culinary fads and fancies, and they were not found wanting, up to and including chow mein.

Up Pops Italy

The victory of Italy's great little runner, Luigi Beccali, came as a distinct surprise to most of the on-lookers at the running of the Olympic 1500-meter final, many of whom connected his name only with the vegetable that caused the boy to remark: "You may call it broccoli, but I say it's spinach."

Luigi's triumph, however, was no upset to those acquainted with his record, which prompted this observer to pick him well beforehand as the Olympic winner.

Beccali was the best miler in Europe last year, outside of Jules Ladoumègue of France, who was banished from amateur ranks before the Paveso Nurmi. The Italian had run the 1500 meters in 3:50, just before coming to the United States, so that he was no more than in good form when he romped the Olympic final in 3:51.2 for a new record in the games.

This had looked, in advance, like the year for Americans to stage a come-back in the 1500.

Hallowell, Venzke and Brocksmith ran record miles on the boards, Cunningham of Kansas turned in astounding time in the spring. Mangan and Crowley looked great at times.

But by the time the final trials came around Venzke, who did 4:10 indoors, and Brocksmith were pretty well "run down." Both failed to qualify. Hallowell, Cunningham and Crowley came through the final tests, but none of them had a real "kick" in the Olympic final. Cunningham ran himself out setting the pace for Beccali, Cornes and Edwards.

The trouble seems to be that the Olympics can't be run when American milers are at their best. Joe Ray, Lloyd Hahn and now the 1932 crop have missed the Olympic mark.

Woodstockers Win At Bridge, Lose At Golf

Golf and bridge teams representing the Woodstock Country Club and the Rip Van Winkle Club of Shandaken played inter-club matches at Shandaken Saturday, the Rip Van Winkle golfers winning by a comfortable margin, while the Woodstockers captured the bridge honors in decisive style.

Ten golf pairs played 18 holes at match play scored under the Nassau system, one point for each nine holes and one point for the total 18. The women players of the Rip Van Winkle Club turned the tide in favor of the home golfers, their champion, Mrs. Clarence Voss, winning three points from Miss Edna Perkins and Mrs. R. Hellman, who incidentally is a member of both clubs, won three points from Mrs. Holly Cantline. The Rip Van Winkle club won by a margin of 13 to 9 points. Detailed scores were as follows:

Tagging Major League Bases

By Herbert W. Barker

Associated Press Sports Writer

First blood in the crucial series between the Brooklyn Dodgers and Pittsburgh Pirates rests with the Dodgers and second place in the National League, only a dream a few weeks ago, was only half a game away from Max Carey's charges today.

The Dodgers piled up nine runs in the first inning of their battle with the Corsairs yesterday and then coasted in to an 11-6 victory, their 20th in 25 games. Not only are the Pirates now only a half-step ahead but the league-leading Chicago Cubs are only a game and a half distant.

Heinie Meinie was on the firing line for the Corsairs when the game opened but he stayed around only long enough to get one man out although Henry evidently didn't have much on the ball, he was handicapped sadly by errors by the young Pirate keystone combination of Floyd Vaughan and Tony Piet.

Taylor, first man to face Meinie, tripped and scored on Stripp's fly. Then followed a hit batsman, a single by Wilson, doubles by Cuccinello and Lopez and two bad fumbles by Piet and Vaughan. Six runs had scored and Meinie had enough. Harris came in to pass Shaute and allow Taylor, up for the second time, to single. Stripp's sacrifice scored one more run and O'Doul's single accounted for the last two tallies.

The Dodgers bombarded Harris for two more runs in the second frame but Leon Chagnon held them scoreless the rest of the way. Joe Shaute held the Pirates safely in hand.

For the Pirates, who boasted a healthy lead in the race a few weeks ago, it was their 14th defeat in 15 games. The collapse of the pitching staff and some erratic play in the infield especially by Vaughan, has proved costly.

The Brooklyn-Pittsburgh fray was the only game played in the major leagues, all other clubs having an off day.

Port Ewen was the winner in a 11 to 9 game played Sunday at Olive Bridge between the representatives of that place and the Port Ewen team. The Bridge team started out by taking the lead with four runs but Port Ewen came through in the seventh and stepped in front to hold it for the remainder of the game.

Two Kingston Teams In Tennis Finals Herzog Nine Plays Bloomer Girls Here Sunday Afternoon

Flashing a brand of both brilliant and mediocre tennis, the veteran doubles team of Randall Rose and Robert Herzog of Kingston, fought its way into the final round of the city of Newburgh doubles championship last Saturday afternoon. These two Kingston tennis stars, the former stale from too much tournament play, the latter lacking practice to a marked degree, overcame all their opponents in their difficult climb to the final round due largely to their past experience and their fighting spirit. From a fast field of thirty-two teams, Rose and Herzog managed to enter the final bracket only after the hardest uphill fight they have experienced in years. In every round of the tournament, they found themselves behind, but pulled out to win each time after a victory seemed hopeless. In the early rounds, the type of tennis they displayed was ragged, but they grew more confident as they went along, and in their semi-final match with the steady, hardy hitting team of Argento and Rosenbaum of Newburgh, they struck their stride and came through to win their way into the final bracket.

Two other teams, one from Kingston and the other from Newburgh, have played their way into the semi-final round, and will play each other early this week to challenge Rose and Herzog for the title. Ed Strong and Stan Hancock, the Kingston duo still in the running, managed to reach the semi final round with hard fought and bitterly contested wins over their opposition. This team, having played together but a few times, lacks the smoothness and confidence of many of the other teams entered in the tournament, and its play was erratic and uncertain most of the time.

In every match played, this team managed to run up a big lead over its opponents, only to go to pieces in the latter part of each contest. The real strength of this combination will be severely tested when they play the strong, aggressive Newburgh team of Schoonmaker and Bennett in the semi final round. This hard hitting combination is the favorite, due to its brilliant showing in the early rounds, when it swept aside all opposition with little difficulty.

The Schoonmaker-Bennett team is determined to win, as they are the sole Newburgh players left in the tournament, and they are out to stop the Kingston final. If the Strong-Hancock doubles team can click properly in this match, they will prove hard to beat, but so far they have not showed enough coordination to play winning tennis against a well rounded doubles team.

Kingston All-Stars at Saugerties Tonight Seek to Qualify for Amateur Tournament

To top off "Saugerties Day" which is being celebrated today the Kingston All Stars will play the Saugerties A. C. tonight at 6:15 o'clock. This will be the second game of the yearly series played between the two clubs.

This game will follow the general merry making through the earlier part of the day. A carnival was held in the afternoon along with a swimming meet, parade and band concert. Immediately after the game there will be a fireworks display which will draw to a conclusion the celebration.

However, Saugerties is anxious to give the All Stars a setback. Two weeks ago the Stars came through with a 2-1 victory over the villagers with Willard Thomas on the mound. He gave them one run in the first inning and then went through the game without hardly a blemish on the rest of his work. Thomas will again be on the mound tonight with Fraleigh, pitching for Saugerties.

Sunday the All Stars will play Athens with Judge Bud Culliton on the mound for Athens.

OUR DAILY PATTERNS

By MARGARET N. HOFFMAN

"A NNE, please say you'll marry me. Give me the right to take you away from all this."

Peter's blue eyes swept the bright, noisy room disdainfully. The swaying huddle of humanity on the dance floor. A night club transported to a secluded retreat outside a big city. The latest venture of Vance Gaydon, their suave, sleek-haired host.

"You're sweet, Peter. And I'd say yes in a minute if it wasn't for the last half of your proposal. But I couldn't live without this. Without crowds of people and music and excitement."

"But this isn't real, Anne. It's only a substitute. A sham. And I'm fed up with living on the surface of things. Anne, please give me a chance. I can teach you to like the things that I like—"

"I do like them, Peter. But that doesn't mean that we have to bury ourselves somewhere. To give up our friends."

"Friends? I suppose that means Vance. He's the god of kayaking at whose altar you worship!"

Anne shrugged slim bare shoulders. "And the answer to that one is?"

"That you'd probably prefer to be hostess of a penthouse apartment and a night club instead of a home."

"I hope that's true," a voice cut in unexpectedly.

Engrossed with each other, Peter and Anne had not seen Vance Graydon approaching. Now he stood beside their table, flashing black eyes inherent on Anne's dark beauty.

"Vance, what do you mean sneaking up on us like this?" laughingly demanded Anne.

"Well, there's always the chance of hearing something interesting, for instance."

"Having a good time?"
"Of course. It's a lovely party. But for the last hour it's been dying on its feet." Anne looked over at Peter.
That wasn't a nice thing to say, of course, but then Peter really had gone a little too far.

Vance intercepting that glance scanned over Anne. "Never mind, I'm going to see the musicians about some extra features, then I'll be back for my dance with you."

"I'll be counting the minutes," Peter sat silent. Anne, suddenly repentant, leaned toward him. "I'm sorry, Peter. I didn't mean what I said to Vance. Not really."

"Oh, that's all right. I suppose I'm rather a wet blanket."

Suddenly she beckoned to a waiter.

"Why, Peter? Drinking?" Anne's eyes widened. "I thought you never touched liquor."

"Never is a long time, Anne. And I might just as well begin. Because if you won't play the game my way I'm going to play it your way." He drained his glass, slowly, deliberately.

Dance with me, Anne?"

After their dance the floor was cleared. A troupe of gypsies came out to dance and sing. Later girls in rhinonets and gingham dresses sang a sweet sentimental song about love in a little house, against a backdrop

When the last note died away Peter t to his feet. "Her," he shouted, picking his way carefully through the crowded tables. "This party is dying its feet. Let's give the little play ers a hand." He grabbed the lead- ing baton. Whipped the orchestra to a savage frenzy of sound.

The floor filled with dancers, amused, singing. Vance came over to Anne. "Well, this sort of thing does seem a little more than our friend Peter can manage."

"Oh, Vance, hadn't we better do something about him?"

"No, he'll run down after a while, and now let's forget about him, shall we?"

Anne rose with slow grace. Drifted on the floor in Vance's arms. Two three turns about and he had guided her into one of the private rooms. There he held her tightly, his dark eyes idely smoldering, inscrutable.

Anne, I can't live without you any ger."

de kissed her passionately, passionately. And in that moment Peter in roamings came into the room and stood for a moment swaying, unseen, the doorway.

But Vance, I don't understand—"
He lifted grave, questioning eyes.
"Here's something you haven't said."
"Oh, darling, don't go provincial on I'm not the marrying kind. But I can't know that the matter is settled."

t you know that the substitute I give you will be more exciting n the real thing with any other art

"Maybe you're right." She stopped, suddenly intent upon a scene in another room. Peter holding aloft a tapering ring. Around him a bevy bricking, laughing girls with outstretched hands. "But there's one you've forgotten, Vance. And is that there's no substitute for—another minute she was out of room. Something small and glit-ting suddenly flashed over her head by a superhuman effort she knew it within inches of another's arm.

And then Peter was beside her.
But Anne, I thought:—
"Never mind, Peter. Just not the Peter. Minn. Peter. Just put this on my finger and then please—take me home."
